

Dr. Bitra Ebrahimi

Bitra Ebrahimi was born in 1975. She obtained her Ph.D. degree (2010) in the field of anatomy and embryology from Tarbiat Modares University, Tehran, Iran. She is associate professor at embryology department of Royan Institute and is the director of human ovarian tissue bank. She has been working as clinical embryologist at embryology laboratory of Royan infertility clinic since 2013. Aside from clinical responsibilities, she teaches reproductive biomedicine courses. She is currently carrying out some researches about ovarian and testicular tissue cryopreservation following molecular alterations. She has published more than 35 research articles in peer reviewed PubMed-indexed scientific journals and has presented more than 45 abstracts in international congresses.