

Dr Ensieh Shahrokh Tehraninejad obtained her medical degree in 1984 from Tehran University of Medical Science and received her obstetrics and gynecology specialty in 1989 from Tehran University of Medical Science. She then became assistant Professor and associate Professor in faculty of Medicine, Tehran University of Medical Science. She has been member of Endocrinology and Female Infertility Department, Royan Institute since 1989. Her fields of interest are: ART complications, recurrent abortion, endometriosis and hysteroscopy. She has collaborated with many research projects. She has about 100 national & international publications and presentations in different fields related to infertility.